

AMGEN TALKS BIOTECH

Beginning Friday, September 16th

We invite you to learn more about the world's largest independent biotechnology company, exciting breakthroughs in scientific discovery and development, as well as insights into scientific careers in industry, through participation in our latest educational program.

Amgen Talks Biotech is a series of short, compelling, scientific stories designed for STEM students of all levels. Learn from Amgen leaders and lab scientists as they share:

- Amgen's R&D capabilities, vision, and strategy
- Exciting discoveries that led to breakthrough medicines for heart disease and cancer
- An overview of how Amgen transforms molecules into medicines from formulation to manufacturing

Save-the-date Friday, October 14, 10:30am – 12:00pm PST for an opportunity to chat “live” with Amgen scientists and learn about careers in industry after viewing the recorded talks.

Click Here to Register

Please contact lfurdek@amgen.com with questions.