

Learning Aligned Employment Program (LAEP) Student Research Assistant in Salmonid-Offshore Wind Interactions

The School of Engineering and the Schatz Energy Research Center, with support from faculty in Fisheries Biology, are hiring two undergraduate research assistants to perform literature review-based research on the potential interactions between salmonids and floating offshore wind on California's north coast.

Position Details

- $18/hour
- 10 hours/week maximum
- January through end of Spring 2024 semester
- Applicants should have knowledge of fish biology and ecology, as well as literature-based research skills

LAEP Requirements | This position is open only to undergraduate students of an underrepresented background and who meet all of the following criteria:

- Enrolled at least half-time
- California resident classification
- Satisfactory Academic Progress in a program leading to a degree or certificate
- Demonstrated financial need
- Eligibility to work in the U.S.

Please see the full application announcement for a list of qualifying underrepresented backgrounds

SEE FULL JOB ANNOUNCEMENT AT: schatzcenter.org/jobs/
Application materials due to schatzenergy@humboldt.edu by 5pm on Friday, December 8th, 2023